A genre-busting coming-of-age tale, Moondance is a freethinking, emotionally-charged, highly addictive spin on love, life and the nature of reality.

“Moondance is visionary...”

Sandra Bekhor, President, Bekhor Management

“I couldn’t stop reading...”

Dee Miller, Executive Director, Renewed Strength

Debut novel explodes the trials and tribulations of modern life and love

In 1996, Toronto author Karen M. Black began to write in a curious, unstructured wave.

What she wrote scared her so much, that she abandoned her writing for five years. What she didn’t know was that she had just written the climax of her debut novel Moondance, which would be published more than ten years later.

Moondance is a ground-breaking coming of age tale written for anyone who’s had their heart broken by life or by love, and has the curiosity and the courage to ask why.

Today, Karen’s early words are preserved virtually uncut in a series of riveting scenes that are literally keeping readers up at night.

About Karen

Karen has an MBA in marketing from the Rotman School of Management at the University of Toronto, and has worked as a communication consultant in the Canadian benefit and pension industry since 1992.

She’s also a karmic astrologer, associated with Linda Brady, author of Discovering Your Soul Mission. Karen lives in Toronto and is writing her second novel, which picks up where Moondance leaves off.

About Moondance

►► Sometimes, life knows what you want – even before you do

MBA student Althea Brecht’s life changes overnight when she discovers her boyfriend’s betrayal. Devastated, she focuses on the future. Yet the more she does, the more her past threatens to engulf her.

Desperate to forget, she falls into the arms of a lover whose desire for control borders on sexual obsession. In a chance encounter, she meets Michael Foster, a man with secrets of his own.

Later, she’s plagued by visions of a seductive green-eyed man who claims to be able to unlock her past and change her future.

Wondering about her own sanity, Althea seeks answers in chillingly accurate tarot card readings and in the ancient secrets of karmic astrology. In dreams, she receives unsettling messages from her step-father Albert who died when she was a child.

When tragedy strikes, Althea loses her grip on reality and everything she believes about life, her family and herself is in doubt. She’s terrified to face what’s happening to her. Yet she knows if she doesn’t, she risks losing everything.

Addictive, intelligent and unabashedly erotic, Moondance explores life, love, the nature of reality and plunges the reader full-force into the wake of an astonishing climax.
